Amazing family rental

★★★★★ 5 of 5

We just returned from a 3 night stay at this amazing home. If you like watching birds and relaxing drinking coffee on the porch this is the rental for you. The views are amazing and the house is filled with love and care. As soon as you walk in you can feel the good times and memories shared in this family home. We can't wait to come back and stay longer.

Amazing views!

★★★★☆ 4 of 5

Loved the view of the house, everything is clean. The stunning view just make us very relax and enjoy the time at house. Water front is also nice, a little muddy but if you walk towards south a little bit, you will enjoy the sandy beach all by yourself. Well come again!

Excellent experience

★★★★★ 5 of 5

This was the first time for our family rented a vacation home and we cannot say enough how much we enjoyed the experience. The property managers were very accommodating from the minute we booked and most importantly they actually answer the phone when we needed to contact them. The location was perfect as we enjoyed touring to the surrounding towns throughout the week. The house was very comfortable, clean and a great set up for our family.

A home with a view!

★★★★★ 5 of 5

Enjoyed the home with it's lovely views of the bay and the many birds that entertained us with their songs. A comfortable home, well maintained. We stayed in for dinner because restaurants in Morro Bay can't equal the view from here.

Nice property, Great views, would love to return

★★★★★ 5 of 5

We took our regular oct vacation away from the heat of Texas, and we were so excited when we drive up and inside the view was amazing, very clean. you can take walk along the bay and to town, house was well stocked, very nice. bed were very comfortable, you are close to so many thing to do, hiking, kayaking, Avila beach, framers market in SLO, the only suggestion, sitting chair are not as comfortable, maybe a love seat had to share couch with 4 adults, tight, either way very nice thank you for sharing your lovely home. my family love it, :)

A great property. Looking forward to returning.

What a delightful home and stay. It felt like you are really staying in a home more than a rental property. Very clean and cozy. We were here with our two teenage boys. Morro Bay itself was a nice sleepy foggy town which was a nice refuge from summer heat. We did take short drives to Avila Beach for some biking down the coast, spent some time in downtown SLO, drove about 70 miles north to do some hiking in Redwoods and had an excellent meal at Galleys in Morro Bay. Looking forward to returning.....

Birdwatcher's Delight

★★★★★ 5 of 5

We drove from Los Angeles, went through the Condor Sanctuary at Bitter Creek and saw three Condors! "How can you top that' you may ask? As soon as we settled into this house we headed out to the deck with our wine. The weather was cool at around 68 degrees, a welcome change from the sweltering L.A. heat. As we were admiring the stupendous view, a Peregrine Flacon cruised right past the deck and perched in the tree nearby! We saw him/her three times while we were staying at this wonderful house. We loved the family home, the super comfortable beds, the shower with a view and the well-stocked kitchen. We will definitely come back here. We've stayed at many houses in the back bay area and this has the best view of all of them. Sharon and Sue were delightful to deal with and we highly recommend this house for your next Central coast getaway.

The Best! Our favorite get away to date!

★★★★★ 5 of 5

We loved this place from the moment we rolled in the door. Wheelchair access is good. While it might not be perfect for every wheelchair user, I had no serious problems. (I require a power wheelchair for locomotion, can self transfer etc.) My spouse loved going down the back steps & walking along the path right at the water. We both loved multiple restaurants in stumbling distance, the fog, the quietness. If you want to be in the middle of activity stay on the Morro Bay side...this is on the southern edge of the Bay. If you only want to dive into the active populated areas on your whim this is perfect. We drove over to the Embarcadero once or twice, which was perfect for us. The space is large but cozy. It is incredibly relaxing. Easy to make yourself at home. It would be great for 6, it was also great for just the 2 of us. Can't wait to go back.

RELAXING GETAWAY

★★★★★ 5 of 5

Perfect place to celebrate a special occasion or just getaway from the hustle and bustle of everyday life! Very Close to the shopping and dining in Morro Bay but nice and quiet to go back to at the end of the day - Much bigger then the pictures make it look (large bedrooms) and beautiful view of the Los Osos Bay and Morro Bay - Thanks again for opening up your beautiful home for others to enjoy :)

Owner's Response: We are always happy when our guests find the same enjoyment that we do in the house. It definitely is a place to create special memories. Come again!

Breathtaking Views

★★★★☆ 4 of 5

We had a wonderful stay here. The views really are fabulous and next to a bird sanctuary. It has easy access to launch kayaks. However, the house is old; the floors squeak; the furniture, cleaning materials, and knick-knacks make it NOT kid friendly. My shin didn't like the glass coffee table either. The sheets and towels were old (my sheets had holes in them.) The coffee maker was out of order. A door opened in such a way that it blocked access to one of the bedrooms and it needed to be left open at times to allow heat to get to the back of the house. I probably wouldn't stay there again.

Owner's Response: Suzanne, We are sorry that you didn't enjoy what our home had to offer. It is our family home that we choose to share with guests, not your typical bare bones rental. We invite guests to use all of our amenities, linens, and kitchen staples. Our family, which includes 11 grandkids have spent many special times there and find it "kid friendly". The beautiful glass tables suit the house and the view, sorry about your shin! We feel the photos on VRBO are representative of what you can expect and usually the house surpasses expectations. I am unaware that any of the sheets have holes or that the coffee maker is out of order and will check both today when we are there and certainly replace as necessary! Wishing you the best on your future adventures. Sincerely, Sharon
